

Margheri, Federica

European Health Management Association

Federica Margheri is the Interim Executive Director of EHMA. She represents the voice of health management to many European and international bodies including the European Parliament, the European Commission, the World Health Organization, industry, and community groups.

Federica works at the intersection of the EHMA Membership, Board of Directors, and Secretariat to ensure the achievement of the EHMA's mission and vision; while she is also committed to building external partnerships to further advance excellent health management for a healthy Europe.

She brings 15 years of experience in project management, communications, financial management, operations, administration, and governance in both European and international organisations. Prior to EHMA, Federica worked for international NGOs, the European Commission, and the European Parliament.

Federica holds a Master's in Policy and Diplomacy and one in International Affairs and Diplomacy. She speaks Italian, English and French, and believes she can say a few sentences in Greek.

Federica enjoys art in all its forms and volunteers with youth organisations in the field of education and employment.
