

Stavdal, Anna

WONCA Europe, University of Oslo

Anna Stavdal is a family medicine specialist, practicing in Oslo inner city for more than 30 years. She is associate professor at the Department of General Practice, University of Oslo. She is an experienced speaker and advocate for family medicine. Anna is the former chair of the Norwegian College of General Practice, former president of Nordic Federation of General Practice and past president of WONCA Europe. She was elected president-elect of WONCA World, to take office as president in November 2020. (WONCA is the World Organisation of Family Doctors, representing more than half a million family doctors engaged in research, education and professional development in family medicine.)